President's Message

Mike Daum

It's an exciting time of the year now knowing that so many of our members are busy preparing for our greatest event of the year - our 16th Annual Show on November 12th and 13th! I am really looking forward to receiving a huge stack of completed exhibit forms at the meeting on Wednesday Oct 5th! As preparations are underway and the time draws closer, there will be an increasing need for any and everyone to step up and inquire of our Show Committee just how you can help out with the event. Sign up sheets will once again be laid out on the tables at the meeting for you to add your name and indicate when you can assist - keep in mind that LIW members who are on the volunteer list will gain free entry to the Show!

The October meeting also marks the commencement of the Nominating Committee for the Board of Directors election in November. Any qualifying member interested in a position on the Board should contact Charlie Felsen or Ed Piotrowski at the October meeting, or you find their contact information through the member's area of the website. A description of the responsibilities of the officers of the Board are included in this issue of the Woodrack. A vote will take place during the November meeting to elect or re-elect the nominees or current officers.

I'd like to thank Sanjay Kapur for his invaluable contribution to the LIW website for the past few years. We are now seeking a webmaster who can devote some time to updating and maintaining our website. We are graciously hosted by Stafford Associates, and anyone with qualifying experience or inquiries is certainly welcome to contact me if interested in holding this vital responsibility.

Secretary's Report

Steve Blakley

At 7:09 PM, President Mike Daum opened the meeting welcoming everyone. Mike reminded everyone that name badges are required to be worn during a meeting. New members can use a “stick on” name badge, replace it in the box and, a permanent name badge will appear the next meeting. Mike asked for the “Biggest Sob Story” of Hurricane Irene. While there were some stories, all in all the membership was lucky with no major injuries or damage to properties. Mike mentioned that the reflection of the lighting in the Barn looked like a shaper cutter.....nobody else saw it until Mike pointed it out.....I think that is because Mike is the only one facing the back of the Barn. It just goes to show that Mike only has one thing on his mind....WOOD!

Mike mentioned that there were only two more meetings before the LIW Show in November and he had only received TWO entry forms. He strongly encouraged everyone to submit their project forms so that this year's show surpasses last years. Mike Luciano had sign-up sheets at his table and encouraged members to sign up for volunteer jobs. Friday November 11 (Veterans Day) 10 AM, is the set up date. The show is on Saturday and Sunday, November 12th and 13th. Vic Werney reported the rules for the garage sale are basically the same as previous years. 15% of the first $100.00 of the sales price goes to the LIW and 10% thereafter. The garage sale cannot take real big machines. Items left after the close of the show on Sunday must be picked up if they were not sold or they would be discarded. In addition, the garage sale is not responsible for stolen items and they are taking donated tools where the full purchase price will go to the LIW. Show chairman Robert Coles reported that there are three vendors with verbal commitments thus far. 34 vendors have been invited with preshow announcements. Mike L. will receive the checks and handle vendor

The Gallery

Bob Schendorf

Lately, I've been thinking a lot about design. Maybe it's from reading all three Krenov books in succession; maybe it's the addition of the new guy at the shop; possibly because of all of the discussions I've had with fellow members that have stopped by since we started this gallery thing. It's been pretty cool. Actually having all those conversations and sharing ideas and opinions with fellow woodworkers as opposed to just the voices in my head. (Although I still insist that the conversation is better when I'm alone in the shop). There is just something comforting in knowing there are others who think like you do.

This weekend I took the wife and kid to Lancaster PA, to see one of my favorite stars: Thomas the Tank Engine! Although I wasn't disappointed, I must confess, in person, he acted kind of aloof. Anyway, of course any trip to Strasburg has to include a stop at someplace “Amish” . Now first, let me state for the record that I respect them and their way of life. (Daryl I promise not to offend any of our Amish members!—[Editor's note again—nah, insult away, the husbands anyway.]) And even though I am miles away from being politically correct, I must say I feel a little uncomfortable in the way they are promoted by their neighbors. It's like P.T Barnum is the president of the local chamber of commerce or something. I also understand that the Amish own about half of the Keystone State (one more editor's note: I couldn't find the actual percentage of ownership, but it turns out they do own 98% of the puppy mills in Pennsylvania), but still, when your add campaign essentially says; “Come and gawk at a group of people that are different from you,” I don't know , I think it's just bad form.....plus trying to navigate my SUV around all those dangblasted horse and buggies makes me nuts!.....Sorry.

So anyhow, I know I break Annabelle's chops pretty good, but I do respect her opinion and enjoy her thoughts, and am proud of how she has grown during registration. There will be a discount for members who are involved with the setup and those working in the show. Robert reported there is still a volunteer needed for getting raffle prizes which is VERY, VERY important. Mike D. reported that projects for sale would be in the gallery and on the floor. Items on the floor will be indicated with "Item for sale" but must remain on the show floor until the end of the show. 8.5" x 11" paper posters are being made up and will be available at the next general meeting. Mike Josiah has generously agreed to make the copies up again this year. Robert is still looking for seminar volunteers. Contact Charlie James to set up a seminar. Media coverage was also discussed.

Mike reported that the next meeting (in October) there would be a presentation by Walter Roth on airbrushing.

Pete Profeta reported he was working on gun stocks and a bow. He is interested in finding a member who is a member of a Suffolk based gun club. Please contact Pete if you are interested. Joe Pascucci reported the Smithtown Heritage Fair is being held on Sunday the 18th at the barn location. Mike D. reported the LI FAIR is looking for vendors. Please go to lifair.com for further information.

The SIG's were next on the list. The SSOW will have open carving and select members will be working on carving an evergreen tree; LISA will have a demonstration on inlaid scrolling; the LIWG will discuss the bowl project they were assigned to do; the LICFM will have a demonstration on planes; their construction and elements, tuning them and looking for defects.

Bob Urso reported he was going to be a distributor for Timberwolf bandsaw blades. Once he gets an initial order of 30-40 blades he can place his initial order. Members should get about 20-25% off list price. Bob will then keep an assortment of the most common blades in stock.

For Show and Tell, Fred Schoenfeld brought in the past few years. She and I both felt that their furniture was a good value, but their designs were lacking. I get that the designs are connected to their way of life and that the furniture is massed produced in an Amish kind of way. But it just seems to me that if you're killing one of His trees to make the thing why not make it beautiful and thus pay further homage to Him? The Shakers certainly did it. Simple, yet elegant. Not boisterous in any way; flawless execution.

So, I'm working on my piece for the show, all the while being haunted by the ghost of Mr. Krenov, and really for the first time stepping back and looking and thinking. This year's piece will include my first drawer with hand cut dove tails. (For any perspective judge out there who may be reading this; I think I may have left one of my fifty dollar bills in said drawer....I have plenty of them so if you do find it, why don't you just hold on to it?)

Well, what I'm getting at is; at night after thinking and trying to do this stuff all day, and I shut off the shop lights and step into our beautiful little gallery, I go home with a smile on my face. Knowing that I am surrounded by so many beautifully designed pieces, and feeling proud that I am part of this very talented group of crafts folk !

Business wise, the holiday rush has yet to start and I've been working a lot in the field. So not as much promotion as I would have liked, but we will get there. Again, if you haven't stopped by yet you really should. You'll probably find yourself being inspired. Also, spread the word. Let all the folks you know who appreciate this stuff about it as well.

In other news, it looks pretty certain that I will be bringing the gallery to the show. It just makes sense. I think some folks will be salivating for the opportunity to purchase something after viewing our always impressive exhibition. Also, we are a first rate organization, and we have a real gallery, and folks should know it!

One last thought. Get involved! In the show, in the club, in something. We have far too few members who are doing far to much. It's a great club, filled with great people, and it can always get better!

some puzzle boxes he was working on, one being a Japanese puzzle box with 10 steps required to open it. Todd Jett showed one of his great models, a scaled model of a 1949 Kenworth truck with oak, maple and brass. Todd turned the wheels (many toy makers purchase wheels). The back doors of the trailer even open!

There were two potential members last night. One was Todd's friend Danny, who makes wooden sail boats. He is a retired LIRR employee. Also joining us was Ray Bush from Islandia, who is a retired mechanic. Ray is a carver and heard of the club through the Suffolk County Woodcarvers Guild.

Joe Bottigliere reported we are at 219 members. Mike L. reported we have paid for the show and are financially in good shape.

The raffle was held and Mike D. introduced the presenter of the night, the King of Dovetails, Rich Macrae. Rich would be showing us various aspects of table construction.

Rich reported that if you are building a deck or a piece of furniture you need to put some design considerations into your project. Joinery, physical characteristics of the wood you are using, design features, what the piece is being used for and the space available for the piece. You have to decide on the style you want; contemporary, modern, etc. You need to think about the materials, engineering aspects, expansion and contraction, finish, structure, etc. The particular piece of furniture Rich brought in used mortise and tenon joinery and he pinned the joinery with small bamboo skewers purchased at a local store. These skewers have a very high tensile strength and work very well.

Rich continued to describe how to house the drawer construction and secure the top. Using plywood you do not need expansion joinery but with solid wood you do. Rich uses web frame design to house the drawers and hold the top flat. He uses slotted screw holes during this construction. You can secure the top to the interior frame or use little blocks to secure it. Rich spoke about his inlay process in which he uses glued up veneers to make the inlays.

Rich uses up to 10 coats of wipe-on poly with the last couple of coats being sanded with 6000 grit paper. He then uses Maguire's #7 car compound to buff out the poly. Remember that a satin finish has a tendency to cloud. Use three or more clear coats of gloss poly before putting on the satin poly.

Thanks Rich for a GREAT presentation!

Turner's Guild

Mike Josiah

The September turner meeting was held on 9/8 and started more or less on time. (There were lanes on Main street closed off and a lot of people were caught in the traffic).

Doug was kind enough to allow us to elect him to design the new turning sig logo, new name tags were included in that also. Thanks Doug!

There were two new members at the meeting tonight. Pat and Lisa Dougherty.

Frank brought in some small hot glue guns (new) and is selling them for $3.00 each. All the money is being donated to the club. Thanks Frank!

The tentative schedule for the next few months is:

October: Kaleidoscopes presented by Marty

November: Acorn bird houses presented by Ed, Charlie and Doug

The next formal Club challenge will be in December. Please make a holiday item. It can be anything and any size as long as its related to the holidays.

In October there will be an optional Challenge. (No raffle tickets for this one). Please make something from hurricane wood. Again anything, any size, just make sure its from a recently down tree from the storm.

The Main Clubs show will be held on 11/12-11/13. Volunteers are needed for seminars and also demonstrations on the show floor. The club lathe will be there plus possibly one or two more personal lathes. The floor plans have not been finalized so the amount of room we will get is still up in the air.

For Show and tell tonight Marty Brought in a hollowed vessel made from Black Walnut, Gary brought in a cherry burl bowl, and also a new segmented vessel he made with a Diamond pattern feature ring. Gary also brought in extra feature ring pieces to show how they were made. Steve showed us his new hollowing arms form Sorby, and also a vase and hollowed vessel he made with these tools. Steve said you can fairly easily control your wall thickness with this setup. He uses them with a Vicmarc articulated handle. Mike Josiah brought in a few maple bottle stoppers he made for his company meeting. They were engraved with the company logo and colorized.

The rest of the night was taken up with the September challenge. Over 20 people brought and showed their bowls made from a 5" x 5" x 5" blank. There were all kind of shapes, woods and finishes used. All were Awesome!

Steve asked us to save these pieces to bring them in next year. We will do a similar challenge next September and we can compare how far we have come in the year.

That's it! Have a great weekend!

The September 15th meeting was called to order by Charlie Felson. Rolf was absent and Charlie graciously ran the meeting.

The clock parts for the clubs collaborative clock project are due. If you have not yet handed in your parts, please contact Ed or Joe.

The Heritage Festival is to be held on Sunday, September 18th. Joe Pascucci and Bob Urso will attend and do some scrolling.

Show & Tell – Arnold showed his Sweetheart Clock cut from Walnut and finished with Watko Danish Oil. Iris had a Mini Antique Style Clock cut from Maple and Walnut. Frank cut a 16” 9-11 Ornament from Basswood and finished with Min-Wax Poly & Pecan Stain. It was a stunning piece which will be presented to the E. Farmingville Fire Dept.

Frank Kiefer is selling mini hot glue guns for $3.00 each. All proceeds will be donated to the club.

Treasurers Report – Iris reported that there are 35 paid members. So far the cost of the clock project is $98.00. This includes the wood that had to be purchased and the clock works. Some of the wood was donated by Rolf and Ed.

There was no new business to report.

Old Business – Bob Urso will be carrying Timberwolf Bandsaw Blades. If you are interested in ordering bandsaw blades, contact Bob with the size you need.

Tonights topic was 3-D Flowers. Charlie Felsen did a superb job of explaining and demonstrating the cutting and construction of these flowers. The flower is cut from 3 pieces of wood. One for the Stem/Stamen, one for the leaves and one for the petals. The cutting seemed to be the easier part of

The August monthly meeting of the SSOW was opened by President Ed Piotrowski who welcomed everyone and encouraged the membership to purchase raffle tickets. He then asked Steve Blakley for a Membership and Treasurers report, which was given and accepted.

The “carve and learn” project, an evergreen tree with snow on it was given to members who wanted to work on this project. Other members worked on various projects of their own choosing.

Two prizes were given out this week, as agreed to by the membership in the last meeting.

Matt Reardon showed the hedgehog that he is working on. It is coming along nicely and should be ready to be finished soon. Richie Zimmerman showed a spoon that he made that was originally made for tomato paste jars but he said the blank was too large. In any case the spoon was a good piece of work, finished with mineral oil.

The next meeting of the SSOW will be held on the THIRD Wednesday of September, due to Rosh Hashanah being the normal meeting date.

this project. The assembly, while not complicated, does require some patience and an extra pair of hands. The end result was a lovely Dogwood flower which can be enhanced with paint or left in its natural wood.

Thank you Charlie for a great meeting. Next month's meeting will be on inlays.

A MEETING OF THE LIW EXECUTIVE BOARD WAS HELD ON MONDAY, SEPTEMBER 12, 2011. IN ATTENDANCE WERE MIKE DAUM, JIM MACALLUM, JOE BOTTIGLIERE, BOB SHERNOFF, MIKE LUCIANO, BOB URSO AND JOE PASCUCCI.

Before the meeting began, Steve brought up three issues that were in the Suggestion Box from the September LIW general meeting. The first suggestion was that the LIW Web site needed to be updated. This was agreed to by all and steps are being taken to resolve this issue. The second suggestion was that the correct address for the location of the barn be used, as there have been many address's associated with it in the past. The actual address of the Brush Barn is 211 Middle Country Road, Smithtown, NY. This information was given to Mike Daum for resolution. The third suggestion was that at the November LIW general meeting that a request for momentary donations for the Toys for Tots program be announced and that the LIW would match those donations with funds from the treasury. This was discussed in detail and the general consensus was that we are a woodworking club and not a bank. If we decide to participate in the Toys for Tots program, then it should be with hand made toys. The discussion continued with various ways to encourage our members to make more toys. One suggestion was that the club purchase the necessary supplies and have a special meeting at a volunteers workshop to "mass produce" some toys, with the LIW purchasing the supplies. One member brought up that the timing for putting that process together should have started early in the year and that it might be too late to do that now. Another member reported that it a "champion" or leader needs to be identified to put this project together. Mike Daum will talk further about this at the October LIW general meeting.

There was a discussion on how the club has changed and what could be done to stimulate more member activity. Discussions included bringing new blood into the Executive Board (EB) of the LIW. Mike feels that if the membership voted in new EB members, there might be a different outlook on the way the EB is handling the LIW. It was said that the problem with this is that nobody wants to run for these positions and do the work assigned to them. It was discussed the each SIG be given the assignment of one general meeting presentation per year.

The meeting opened with the review of the Action Items that are still open. They are as follows:

AI-12 - Investigating a better way to make notifications of cancelled meetings. It was determined that Mike Daum would send out a mass email to the LIW membership when a (general) meeting was cancelled. It is the responsibility of all members to check their email and the web site for these notifications. For those members who do not have internet access, those members are responsible for calling Bob Urso (631 724-4625) for LIW general meeting information. AI-12 closed.

AI-52 - Club Banners - Doug Bartow has made arrangements to order three club banners. One of those banners will be used in the LIW Gallery, at Bob Schendorf's place of business.

AI-56 - Mike Daum questioned the necessity of having this status done as we are no longer going to have a building for an educational center. Mike to talk to accountant Joe Eden to see if it is a) worth our doing this, will we get a benefit from it and b) if Joe does it, how much it will cost.

AI-65 - Use of Godaddy for our base of our website. This was determined not to be done as the current website is still available and that the use of Facebook is starting to gain in popularity. AI-65 closed.

AI-67 - Make up a Woodrack Index of all past Woodracks. This was done. Steve is to send Sanjay a copy of this document to be put on the LIW Website. AI-67 closed.

AI-69 - Additional website assistance. Mike is going to contact Sanjay to see if he needs additional assistance on keeping the website up to date.

AI-71 - License plate covers. Bob Urso is looking into license plate covers.

AI-72 - Format change of the Woodrack. Mike is going to talk to Daryl on this issue.

AI-73 - Membership Survey. Membership survey is completed and final draft given to Joe Bottigliere. AI-73 closed.

Other Business:

At the LIW expense, car window decals were supposed to be ordered for LIW members. After a revote, one of the EB Trustees decided to change his vote to a "no". This turned the decision and the car window decals program was not passed. Steve Blakley asked for permission from the EB to canvass the membership to see who would be interested in these car decals. If he could get enough members to want these car decals he (Steve) would pay out of his own pocket to have these decals made and then sell them to the membership at cost. One EB member suggested that the LIW cover Steve's costs in case all the decals were not sold. The EB turned this down.

A discussion of the projector being available for the October general meeting was discussed. This is because of past instances when the projector was not available when needed by other SIG's or the general meeting. It was decided that if a member borrows any LIW equipment, it is that member's responsibility to check with the other SIGS to ensure none of them need the projector before it is scheduled to be returned.

There was some discussion on the LIW Show. This information should be covered in the LIW Show minutes.

Mike Luciano reported he is getting quotes for our insurance from three different locations. He will keep us posted.

There was a discussion of a possible craft show for our members only, for anyone who wants to sell their items. Mike to discuss this at the next general meeting before the LIW makes any further decisions.
